

e-fellows.net LL.M. Day October 20, 2012 – Frankfurt/Main, Germany

Attract pre-selected top law students for your LL.M. program

The e-fellows.net LL.M. Day enables highly ranked law schools to present their LL.M. programs to a group of 60 to 80 German law students who are interested in doing an LL.M. abroad. The career network e-fellows.net offers a scholarship program and supports more than 5,500 law students that belong to the best 10% in Germany.

e-fellows.net is owned by McKinsey & Company, Deutsche Telekom and the publishing house DIE ZEIT. Among the partner companies are Clifford Chance, Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer and Hengeler Mueller.

Key facts:

- Time: Saturday, October 22, 2011
- Location: Japan Tower, Frankfurt/Main, Germany
- Participants: Out of all applications, students with a minimum of 9 points in their First State Exam or with an average of 9 points in their last year before the First State Exam are selected by e-fellows.net. The restricted number of participants allows for intense and detailed conversations to be conducted.
- Exhibitors: Up to 20 top-ranked law schools and up to 6 renowned law firms
- Booking deadline: June 30, 2012

Agenda:

- Official welcome by e-fellows.net
- Presentation of all law school and law firm representatives
- Info Panels with small groups of participants for general questions concerning the LL.M.
- Direct contact to the students at the stands during the LL.M. Forum
- Lecture about how to finance an LL.M.

Services included:

- Promotional activities to reach the target group, pre-selection of participants
- Organisation of the event, including catering
- Presentation of your law school and networking at your stand
- Feedback evaluation and contact details (name and e-mail) of participants

Contact and booking:

- Contact: Milena Cornely, Phone: +49 89 23232 341, Email: milena.cornely@e-fellows.net