

GLOBAL LAW SCHOOL

Emory Law is a top-ranked US law school, offering a world-class faculty, a diverse student body, a sophisticated and dynamic urban setting, practical opportunities to apply legal theory and skills, and a global alumni network.

Emory's Master of Laws (LLM) is a 24-credit-hour program designed for individuals with a first degree in law who are seeking to build upon their legal background for professional and scholarly advancement.

Emory Law's academic rigor combined with practical learning opportunities affords both foreign- and US-trained lawyers an unparalleled LLM experience.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS:

All applicants must apply through the Law School Admission Council (lsac.org) and submit the following:

- » LLM application
- » Personal statement
- » Resume
- » Undergraduate or graduate transcripts
- » Two letters of recommendation
- » Application fee
- » TOEFL or IELTS (for applicants whose native language is not English)

DEADLINES:

- » Fall Semester: early deadline, April 15; general deadline, June 30
- » Spring Semester: early deadline, September 30; general deadline, November 15

EMORY
LAW

Office of Admission, Master of Laws Program
Emory University School of Law
1301 Clifton Road NE Atlanta GA 30322-2770
404.727.6802
law.emory.edu/llm
llmadmission@emory.edu

Emory University is an equal opportunity/equal access/affirmative action employer fully committed to achieving a diverse workforce and complies with all applicable Federal and Georgia State laws, regulations, and executive orders regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action in its programs and activities. Emory University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, ethnic or national origin, gender, genetic information, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, and veteran's status. Inquiries should be directed to the Office of Equity and Inclusion, 201 Dowman Drive, Administration Bldg, Atlanta, GA 30322. Telephone: 404-727-9867 (V) 404-712-2049 (TDD).

EMORY LAW

MASTER OF LAWS DEGREE (LLM)

What sets us
apart will set you apart.

PROGRAM DETAILS

- » Full-time, two semesters, with August and January enrollment. A part-time program is available for students who do not need a student visa.
- » Open to individuals with a foreign law degree or those who have earned a juris doctor in the US.
- » A diverse and collegial class experience, where LLM students enroll in courses with JD and other graduate students.
- » Experiential opportunities including intramural moot court competitions, volunteer clinics, and practical legal skills classes.
- » After successful completion of the LLM, foreign-trained lawyers may be eligible to sit for any US state bar open to foreign-trained lawyers with an LLM, including the New York and Georgia bars.

OPTIONAL AREAS OF FOCUS

Students may design a course of study, drawing widely from Emory's many areas of expertise to align their coursework with their interests and goals. These include:

- » Business Law
- » Health Law
- » International Law
- » Civil and Human Rights Law
- » Law and Religion

Learn more: law.emory.edu/llm

"I knew that the school had a reputation for fostering a collaborative legal environment, and in my research, I found a number of independent testimonies from Emory Law LLM graduates who spoke of the community environment. It seemed like the place for me."

CATHERINE ZHU, LLM
CLASS OF 2020

"My Emory Law experience has exceeded my expectations. I am positively impressed with how many resources and how much support I get from the faculty, from choosing my classes to editing my resume, and preparing me for finals and the workplace."

LOREN RODRIGUES SILVA, LLM
CLASS OF 2023

"The LLM degree allows you to get acclimated with how the judiciary and the legal profession function in the US."

NIRMALESWAR THRIUNAVUKARASU, LLM
CLASS OF 2022

"The students in Emory Law's LLM program are incredible. They are from all over the world and have a deep understanding of the legal system on a global level. It is an honor for me to be a part of a classroom with students who have such broad knowledge and profound commitment to learning."

» Professor Paul Koster teaches legal writing, as well as LLM students' first class: Introduction to US Law. He is also the Faculty Director of the LLM program. If you have questions, Professor Koster encourages you to email him at paul.koster@emory.edu.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT RESOURCES

Emory Law also offers an abundance of academic and community resources including an English Language Specialist. For international students coming to the US for the first time, a foundation program is held in July to help you adjust to the new environment and practice English language skills needed for American law classes. Additionally, LLM students have full access to our Center for Professional Development and Career Strategy and the Emory Library system, which has more than 4.6 million print and electronic volumes.

Hugh F. MacMillan Law Library is a beautiful, usable space that spans five floors, and includes 132 study carrels, 450 seats, and spaces that work for every study style. The law library staff consists of 18 dedicated professionals, 10 of whom have advanced degrees in both law and library science. Our collection is a blend of print and digital materials. It is carefully curated and constantly updated, and exceeds 350,000 items, including hundreds of study aids to help our students thrive here at Emory Law.

OUR EXCEPTIONAL FACULTY

Emory Law's faculty is comprised of leading scholars from around the world who are widely published and renowned for innovative and dynamic teaching. Our professors have unique backgrounds and interests – from pioneering feminism and legal theory, to exploring the intersection of law and religion, to fighting for justice for military combatants and veterans. They come to the classroom with extensive practical experience, having clerked for federal judges and practiced law for the public sector, businesses, and private firms. Plus, our excellent student-faculty ratio of 7 to 1 fosters a culture of openness and collaboration that allows you to receive individual guidance from these brilliant legal minds. Select faculty include:

» Richard D. Freer is the recipient of the university's Scholar/Teacher award. His articles on federal practice and procedure have been featured in leading law journals.

Margo Bagley, Asa Griggs Candler Professor of Law, focuses her scholarship on comparative issues relating to patents and biotechnology, pharmaceuticals, and technology transfer.

George Georgiev teaches and writes about business law. His current research examines the intersection of corporate governance and securities regulation, including questions about the design and performance of the SEC disclosure regime.

Laurie Blank's areas of expertise include international humanitarian law, law of armed conflict, international criminal law, and national security law. She works directly with students to provide assistance to international tribunals, non-governmental organizations, and militaries around the world.

For more information on the broad expertise of Emory Law faculty, visit law.emory.edu.

GLOBAL BUSINESS CITY

Atlanta is a global city and a great place to live. With a temperate climate and renowned southern hospitality, Atlanta offers a warm welcome for everyone.

- » 16 Fortune 500 companies are headquartered in metro Atlanta, including The Coca-Cola Company, The Home Depot, UPS, CNN, Mercedes-Benz USA, and Delta Airlines.
- » Students have access to a wide range of affordable housing options within walking distance, along Emory's extensive free shuttle system, or an easy bike ride away.
- » Emory maintains active partnerships with The Carter Center, the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, and Georgia Institute of Technology.
- » The city's rich cultural offerings include museums, theaters, and music venues, as well as parks and public trails.
- » Atlanta's location makes it easy to travel! Drive a couple of hours to the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, or take a half-day's road trip to Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina beaches. The Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport provides ready global access.

Emory's location in a safe, primarily residential neighborhood in Atlanta is one of many aspects that distinguish us among the nation's best law schools. We offer personalized attention in a thriving, friendly environment, so that students feel both at home and connected to the world at large.

You'll find numerous house and apartment rentals within walking distance, along Emory's extensive free shuttle routes, or an easy bike ride away.

Piedmont Park, Atlanta